Traditional (non-CEP)

 Potential applicants are encouraged to meet with Health Sciences advisors each semester while working on their nursing prerequisites and then with the nursing advisor when they are ready to submit their traditional nursing application.

 There is approximately a two to two and half year waiting period from the time a student submits their traditional nursing application to when they are accepted.

 Upon successful completion of the traditional nursing program pathway, students will be awarded an Associate in Applied Science (AAS) in nursing.

 After completion of the AAS in nursing, students are eligible to take the NCLEX-RN to become licensed as a Registered Nurse (RN).
